

An industrial scene with workers and machinery. In the upper left, a flag with horizontal stripes is partially visible. Below it, a small lantern hangs. The background is a hazy, yellowish-brown sky. A large, dark, cylindrical pipe or machine part extends from the left towards the center. In the foreground, several workers are depicted. One worker on the left stands holding a long pole. Another worker in the center is bent over, possibly working on the ground. In the background, two more workers are visible, one holding a long pole. A large, bright orange flame or fire is on the right side. The overall style is that of a historical illustration or painting.

Les parais de l'industrie